PREFACE.

THE Ancestral Register of the General Society Daughters of the Revolution contains the names and lineage of all members of the Society during the first four years of its existence, except the names of those who resigned during that period.

By resolution of the Board of Managers this membership list includes all those whose application papers were filed before January 1, 1896, although these members were not actually received within the first four years.

Great care has been taken to make the Register correct and to state exactly the officially recorded rank and services of the ancestors mentioned therein. After the book had gone to press the Society met with loss in the death of several members. The names of these members will be found in the necrological list following the Roll of Members.

NEW YORK, September 1, 1896.

CONSTITUTION.

CONSTITUTION.

ARTICLE I.

Name.

The name of this Society shall be DAUGHTERS OF THE REVOLUTION.

ARTICLE II.

Objects.

The objects of this Society shall be to perpetuate the patriotic spirit of the men and women who achieved American Independence; to commemorate prominent events connected with the War of the Revolution; to collect, publish and preserve the rolls, records, and historic documents relating to that period; to encourage the study of the country's history; to promote sentiments of friendship and common interest among the members of the Society, and to provide a home for and furnish assistance to such Daughters of the Revolution as may be impoverished, when it is in its power to do so.

ARTICLE III.

Membership.

Section I.—Qualifications. Any woman shall be eligible to membership in the Daughters of the Revolution who is above the age of 18 years, of good character, and a lineal descendant of an ancestor who

- (1) was a signer of the Declaration of Independence, a member of the Continental Congress, or a member of the Congress, Legislature, or General Court of any of the Colonies or States; or
- (2) rendered civil, military or naval service under the authority of any of the thirteen Colonies or of the Continental Congress; or

- (3) by service rendered during the War of the Revolution became liable to the penalty of treason against the government of Great Britain:

provided that such ancestor always remained loyal to the cause of American Independence.

Sec. 2.—Applications. Every application for admission to membership shall be made in writing, in duplicate, upon a form prescribed by the Board of Managers, and shall state the proofs of claims of the applicant required by the first section of this article. Applications must be presented, with the initiation fee, to the State Society (where such exists) in the State where the applicant resides; otherwise to the Secretary of the General Society. Applications must be seconded by at least two members of the General Society, if possible, or by two reputable citizens of said State where the applicant resides, and should be accompanied with a certificate from the State Archives or Federal Pension Bureau (where obtainable), showing proof of ancestor's service.

Sec. 3.—Admission. Every applicant who shall have complied with the requirements of this article, and who shall have been duly approved by the State Society applied to, or, where none exists, by the Board of Managers, and a duplicate copy of her application papers, with notice of approval, filed with the Registrar of the General Society, shall, upon payment of the required fee, and the issuance of her Certificate of Membership by the Board of Managers, under the seal of the General Society, become a member of the Society. Election to membership of the General Society shall constitute the person elected a member of the State Society, when such shall be organized, in the State of her residence.

Sec. 4.—Resignations and Expulsions. A State Society or, where none exists, the Board of Managers may accept the resignation of any member not in arrears for dues or fees to the Society.

A member may be expelled from this Society for conduct inconsistent with an honorable character, or disloyal or prejudicial to the interests of the community in general and the Society in particular; provided formal charges shall have been preferred against said member, in writing, and signed by not less than five members; and provided, also, that said member shall have received at least ten days' explicit notice of complaint preferred against her, and of the time and place of hearing of said complaint, and shall have been offered an opportunity to be heard in person on the subject of the charges; and provided, also, that the charges have been approved and sustained by a three-fourths vote of a body consisting of a Board of Managers of the General Society and the Board of the State Society of which said accused person is a member.

ARTICLE IV.

Dues and Fees.

Section 1.—Initiation Fee. The initiation fee shall be two dollars, and shall be sent by the candidate with her application papers. Where the application is made through a State Society, one dollar of the initiation fee shall be forwarded by it, with the duplicate application paper, to the Secretary of the General Society.

Sec. 2.—Annual Dues. The annual dues of the General Society shall be three dollars, provided that any member who shall have been elected during the last two months of the fiscal year of the General Society shall not be required to pay the annual dues for the current fiscal year. The fiscal year of the General Society shall begin on the first day of April and close on the thirty-first day of March in each calendar year. Members shall pay their annual dues to the State Society or State Chapter in which their names are enrolled, but in States where no State Society or State Chapter has been organized their dues shall be paid to the Treasurer of the General Society. Each State Society shall have power to regulate its annual dues, but it shall pay on or before April first, from the annual dues, yearly to the Treasurer of the General Society one dollar for each member.

Sec. 3.—Life Membership. A payment at one time of fifty dollars shall constitute a life membership, and shall thereafter exempt the person so paying from all annual dues. The fee shall be paid to the Treasurer of the State Society or, where none exists to the Treasurer of the General Society. Where paid to the State Society, the Treasurer thereof shall pay to the Treasurer of the General Society the sum of twenty-five dollars. Upon receipt of the fee by the Treasurer of the General Society, a proper certificate of life membership shall be issued by the Board of Managers.

Sec. 4.—Arrears. Members who are in arrears to the Society for two years' dues may be dropped by the State Society or, where none exists, by the Board of Managers, if after written notice they shall fail to pay the same after thirty days. A member who has been so dropped may be reinstated upon application to the State Society or, where none exists, to the Board of Managers, upon payment of all arrears and of the dues which would have accrued had she remained continuously a member.

ARTICLE V.

Officers.

Section 1.—Designation and Term. The Officers of this Society shall consist of a President, two Vice-Presidents, a Recording Secretary, a Corresponding Secretary, a Treasurer, a Registrar, a Historian, and a Librarian.

They shall discharge the general duties herein enumerated, and such as may be prescribed by the By-Laws of the Board of Managers.

They shall be chosen biennially from among the members of the Society in the manner prescribed by Article VIII hereof. The Officers of the Society at the date of adoption of this Constitution shall hold office until the annual meeting of the Society, in the year 1898.

Sec. 2.—President. The President shall preside at all meetings of the Society and of the Board of Managers, and shall exercise the usual functions of a presiding officer, under general parliamentary rules. The President shall have power to call special meetings of the Board of Managers; she shall appoint all Committees not otherwise specially designated; and she shall make a report at the annual meeting upon the condition of the Society.

Sec. 3.—Vice-Presidents. In case of the death, resignation, absence or inability to serve of the President, the duties of her office shall devolve upon the Vice-Presidents in the order of their seniority.

Sec. 4.—Secretaries. The Recording Secretary shall keep the minutes of all meetings of the Society and the Board of Managers; shall register the names of members, keep a list of the applications to the General Society for membership; shall have charge of the seal and of all documents pertaining to her office, and shall affix her signature and the seal of the Society to all certificates of membership, as authorized by the Board of Managers. She shall make a report to the Society at its annual meeting.

The Corresponding Secretary shall give notice of the time and place of all meetings; shall inform candidates elected by the Board of Managers of their admission, apprise Committees of their appointments, conduct the correspondence of the Society, and shall give a summary of her work at the annual meeting.

Sec. 5.—Treasurer. The Treasurer shall collect and keep the funds and securities of the Society, and as often as these amount to one hundred dollars she shall deposit them in a bank designated by the Board of Managers, to the credit of the General Society, Daughters of the Revolution; and such funds shall be drawn only on the check of the Treasurer, for purposes authorized by the Board of Managers. She shall keep a full and true account of all receipts and payments, filing vouchers for all her disbursements, and she shall make an annual report in detail to the Society. Such accounts shall be audited by a committee of three, appointed by the President at the previous annual meeting.

Sec. 6.—Registrar. The Registrar shall file and keep in a place designated by the Board of Managers the records of the proofs upon which memberships have been granted, together with all documents, rolls or other evidences of services in the War of the Revolution of which the Society may become possessed. She shall verify all applications, where no State Society exists, and shall append to all application papers a statement of verification over her signature. She shall report to the Board of Managers, at each regular meeting, a list of members admitted to the Society since the previous meeting, with the proofs upon which membership has been granted; and she shall make a detailed report to the Society at the annual meeting.

Sec. 7.—Historian. The Historian shall keep a record of all historical and commemorative celebrations of the Society, and of all matters of historical importance to the Association. She shall edit for publication any historical documents, muster rolls, or letters of which the Society may become possessed and which it may decide to publish, and shall furnish to such periodicals as the Board of Managers may designate all matters of information pertaining to the Society; and she shall make a report in detail at the annual meeting of the Society.

Sec. 8.—Librarian. The Librarian shall have full charge of all books and relics belonging to the Society, and of all documents not otherwise provided for, and shall keep the same for the use of the Society. She shall make a report to the Society at its annual meeting.

Sec. 9.—There may also be a Chaplain elected by the General Society, who shall be a regularly ordained minister, a descendant of a Revolutionary ancestor, and who shall perform such duties as usually pertain to the office.

ARTICLE VI.

Board of Managers.

Section 1.—Organization. The Officers of the Society, and fourteen members thereof, seven of whom shall be chosen by ballot at each annual meeting, beginning with the year 1897, shall constitute a Board of Managers. The fourteen Managers holding office at the date of the adoption of this Constitution shall divide themselves by lot into two classes; the term of office of one shall expire in 1897, and that of the other in 1898.

Sec. 2.—Powers and Duties. The Board of Managers shall have the general oversight and management of the property and affairs of the Society. Seven members shall constitute a quorum to transact business. The Board shall provide suitable accommodations for the annual and special meetings of the Society. It shall fill all vacancies arising in offices of the General Society or in its own membership until the ensuing annual meeting of the Society for the election of such Officers or Managers. It may adopt By-Laws, not inconsistent with this Constitution, for the proper conduct of the Board. Upon proof of defects or irregularities in the admission papers of any member of the Society, the Board of Managers may, at any time, require such member to properly substantiate her claims to membership, and, in the event of her failure so to do, may terminate her membership and require the Secretary to strike her name from the Rolls.

ARTICLE VII.

State Societies and Local Chapters.

Section 1.—State Societies. A “State Society,” subordinate to the General Society, may be organized in each State and Territory of the Union, in the District of Columbia, and in the Island of Long Island, State of New York. It may be instituted by the Board of Managers whenever there are at least twenty members of the Society residing within any one of the localities above described.

The conditions of membership in a State Society and the provisions regulating dues and fees therein, shall be those prescribed in Articles III and IV of this Constitution, without alteration or amendment.

Its membership shall consist of all members of the General Society and of Local Chapters, residing within the State, Territory or locality in which it is organized.

Within the provisions of this Constitution, State Societies shall be free to regulate and direct their own affairs. They shall elect Officers, who shall be a Regent, a Secretary, a Registrar, a Treasurer, and such others as they may establish.

They shall judge of the qualifications of their members or of those proposed for membership, subject, however, to the provisions of this Constitution. All applications for membership in the General Society by persons residing in a locality where a State Society has been organized shall be made through the State Society, whose Officers shall examine the applicant's papers, and upon her admission to membership shall certify a duplicate thereof to the Registrar of the General Society. No election of a new member shall be valid unless her eligibility shall be approved by the Registrar of the General Society.

The Secretary of each State Society shall file a copy of its Constitution and By-Laws, when adopted, with the Board of Managers of the General Society.

Each State Society shall, on or before April first, in each year, transmit to the Registrar of the General Society a complete roll of its membership.

The Officers of a State Society shall report to the Board of Managers the organization of all Local Chapters within the State for which it is organized. The State Societies may propose or recommend subjects for consideration of the General Society at its annual or special meetings.

Sec. 2.—Local Chapters. Five or more members of the General Society, residing within a given locality, may organize a Local Chapter, with the consent of the Regent of the State Society and the approval of the State Board, with such designation as they may select, and, upon transmitting a certificate of such organization, with a copy of their Constitution and a list of their Officers, to the State Society in the State, District, or Locality where they are organized, or, where none exists, to the Board of Managers, and the approval therefor by the State Society or the Board, they shall be formally constituted as a Local Chapter. The Officers of Local Chapters shall consist of a Chapter-Regent, a Secretary, and such others as they may designate. Local Chapters may establish such conditions and restrictions for the admission of members as they shall see fit, except that membership therein shall be limited to persons who are already members of the General Society, Daughters of the Revolution, and that the dues and fees payable by their members to the State or General Society, under Article IV hereof, shall not be diminished.

Sec. 3.—Subordinate Constitutions. This Constitution, when adopted by the General Society, shall take effect forthwith and shall govern all State Societies and Local Chapters of the Daughters of the Revolution heretofore organized. Such Societies and Chapters shall, as soon as practicable after the adoption of this Constitution, conform their Constitutions and Rules thereto and advise the Secretary of the General Society of such action.

Until each State Society shall have filed a copy of its Constitution and By-Laws, in conformity herewith, and of any amendments thereto which may hereafter be made, with the Board of Managers of the General Society, and until the approval thereof by the Board of Managers, such State Society shall not be entitled to its delegate representation, hereinafter provided, in the annual or special meetings of the General Society.

Sec. 4.—No Officer of the General Society, or State Regent, or Chapter Regent, is authorized to issue circulars in regard to the General Society or the organization of Chapters without approval of the Board of Managers.

ARTICLE VIII.

Meetings and Elections.

Section 1.—Annual Meeting. The annual meeting of the General Society shall be held in the City of New York, or at such other place as shall have been designated by a majority vote at the preceding annual meeting. It shall convene on the 23d and 24th days of April, at an hour and place of which due notice shall have been given to the delegates by the Corresponding Secretary of the General Society. When either of these days shall fall upon a Sunday, the meeting shall take place upon the two secular days following such Sunday.

At the annual meeting, each State Society shall be entitled to a representation consisting of the following delegates, viz.: Its Regent and Vice Regent, the Chapter-Regent of each Local Chapter, and one delegate for each Local Chapter containing twenty members or under; additional delegates to be elected in the proportion of one delegate to every twenty-five members.

Such elected delegates, and an alternate for each delegate, shall be chosen annually from the membership of the State Societies, and a certificate of their election as such delegates and alternates shall be duly transmitted by the Regent and Secretary of the State Society to the Secretary of the General Society at least ten days before the annual meeting. The Officers and Managers of the General Society, except where constituted delegates, as above prescribed, shall have a voice in the annual meeting, without being entitled to vote; but the President may vote in case of a tie. The meeting shall be the judge of the credentials of all delegates, and twenty-one delegates shall constitute a quorum.

All members of the Society may be present at the annual meeting, but shall have neither voice nor vote.

The session of the first day of the annual meeting shall be devoted to business of the Society, including the receiving of annual reports and the election of Officers and Managers. The session of the second day shall be social and literary in character. The meeting shall have power to adjourn its sessions from day to day for not exceeding thirty days.

Election of Officers and Managers shall be by ballot of the delegates. The polls shall be open for three hours, or until every delegate has had sufficient opportunity to cast her vote. Delegates unable to be personally present may, if their right to attend has been properly certified, as above prescribed, and if not represented by an alternate, vote for Officers and Managers by proxy, properly signed and witnessed, to the Secretary of the General Society, or to any other delegate. The election of Officers shall be determined by a majority vote. Managers may be voted for upon one ballot, and the seven members receiving the highest number of votes shall be elected.

Sec. 2.—Special Meetings. A special meeting may be called at any time by the Board of Managers, and it must be called by the Presiding Officer upon the written request of fifty members of the General Society. The President must appoint such meetings to be held within sixty days after the date of such call. Such request, and also the call for the meeting, shall state specifically the nature of the business for which the meeting is convened, and no other business than that named in the call shall be transacted. Notice of a special meeting must be mailed thirty days before the date thereof by the Corresponding Secretary of the General Society to the Regent and Secretary of each State Society and to the Chapter Regent of each Local Chapter.

The membership and quorum of special meetings shall be constituted in the same manner as that of the annual meeting.

Sec. 3.—Order of Business. At all business meetings of the Society, the following general order of business shall prevail:

1. Meeting called to order by the Presiding Officer.
2. Roll call of delegates.
3. Action upon minutes of previous meetings.
4. Reports of Officers.
5. Communications from the Board of Managers.
6. Reports of Special Committees.
7. Unfinished business.
8. Elections.
9. New business.

ARTICLE IX.

The Seal.

The seal of the General Society, Daughters of the Revolution, shall be as follows:

Within a circle $2\frac{1}{8}$ inches in diameter, a beaded annulet, the title: "Daughters of the Revolution, 1776-1891," and a rope ring, all surrounding a shield; paly of thirteen argent and gules, a chief azure.

Crest: an eagle displayed, holding in the dexter claw an olive branch and in the sinister a bunch of thirteen arrows, all proper.

Below the eagle and extending in curves to dexter and sinister a scroll bearing the legend: "Daughters of the Revolution."

Motto: Liberty, Home, and Country, 1776-1891.

The seals of State Societies shall correspond in all respects to the seal of the General Society, except that, for the words "General Society" shall be substituted the name of the State Society, and for the date "1891" the year of organization of the said State Society.

ARTICLE X.

The Insignia.

The insignia of the Daughters of the Revolution shall be a badge of gold and blue enamel and shall consist in design of a shield bearing the thirteen stars and stripes, above which is the ribbon bearing the title of the Society, "Daughters of the Revolution;" crossing the lower part of the shield is the ribbon with the adopted motto: "Liberty, Home, and Country," with the dates "1776-1891." Surmounting all this is the eagle with outstretched wings and grasping the olive branch and arrows, all of gold. The extreme length is $1\frac{1}{4}$ inches, and the extreme breadth 1 inch. The reverse of the badge shall be plain, and inscribed upon it the name and number of the owner. The badge shall be suspended from a ribbon of buff, edged with dark blue, ribbed and watered, $1\frac{1}{2}$ inches wide and $1\frac{1}{2}$ inches in displayed length, and when worn by a member of a State Society may be suspended from a gold bar bearing the name of the State. The insignia shall be worn by members on the left breast, but members who are or have been Officers of the General Society may wear the insignia suspended from the ribbon around the neck. The custodian of the insignia shall be the Treasurer of the General Society, who shall issue them to members of the Society under the direction of the Board of Managers.

The above-described insignia shall not be varied by any State Society or Chapter, nor shall these devise any additional insignia, and no member shall wear any other insignia of the Daughters of the Revolution than that described in this article, it being the aim of the Society to have one uniform badge, national and not local, recognizable as such throughout the extent of our common country.

ARTICLE XI.

Amendment.

This Constitution may be amended at the annual meeting of the Society by a three-fourths vote of the delegates, provided that a copy of the proposed amendment, signed by at least ten proponents, shall have been delivered to the Corresponding Secretary of the General Society and mailed to each member of the Society at least thirty days before the meeting.
